

WE ARE LOOKING FOR

FREELANCE TRANSLATORS

AND

LANGUAGE EDITORS

Tilde is one of the leading translation and language technology companies in Europe having offices in all three Baltic capitals. Translation volumes are growing each year and therefore we are looking for Estonian, Latvian and Lithuanian FREELANCE translators and language editors for our dedicated team.

What we are looking for:

- Translators and editors with experience in one or more of the following subject fields: technical, IT, medical, legal, EU documentation, marketing.
- Translators and editors native in the target language
- Flexibility and willingness to learn and work with the newest CAT tools
- Self-employed status

What we have to offer?

- Steady and regular flow of projects from various subject fields, including IT (software, applications, documentation, games); automotive; medical (devices, user guides, patient letters); consumer goods (from toys to kitchenware); construction, marketing, EU etc.
- We can use and provide to you all the needed CAT tools by virtual machines.
- Support and attentiveness from our experienced team of project managers, vendor managers and IT support.

If this sounds like an interesting opportunity, you are welcome to apply by sending us your CV and a short description of the linguistic tasks you usually do (fields, volumes), as well as your rate per word, and what CAT tools you use. Please, apply to freelance@tilde.com

We are looking forward to hearing from you!
