The Transline Group.
Complex translation workflows made simple.

You place great importance on precision when creating medical documents. So do we. That's why we translate your documents into the required target languages with pinpoint accuracy. Your expertise and our professional linguists form a symbiotic relationship.

Our communication specialists have linguistic as well as technical skills in the fields of medicine, pharmacy, chemistry, medical technology and dentistry, and are intimately familiar with the terminology of each discipline. This is how our medical translations have enabled numerous satisfied customers to achieve their export goals – for more than 30 years.

/ Introducing medical progress on the international market, in compliance with all statutory regulations.

Language as key to your success

Your achievements in research and development are indispensable for the health and quality of life of numerous people.

Language has become a key factor in ensuring regulatory compliance and the safe use of medical products in the EU, because your patients and users must be able to access all relevant information in their local language.

No matter whether you produce surgical instruments, dossiers for drug approvals or instructions for use: we ensure accurate transfer of all your sensitive documents into any target language.

We combine technical expertise with perfect service, always with the ultimate goal of your utmost satisfaction. Together with you, we work to ensure linguistic compliance with the new MDR (Medical Device Regulation). And should you require certification of accuracy and completeness for the translation as part of the European approval, we offer that too, in many multilingual combinations.

International product launches

We're committed to minimising the global time to market for your products and technologies, using our multilingual expertise and specialists such as computational linguists and terminologists.

Efficient processes for multilingual projects. Shaping progress together.

Experience and excellent service

Everyone wants transparent, fast and uncomplicated processes. Transline has experience – decades of it. Our reliable and efficient staff and technology work hard for you.

Premium quality translations

The expertise of our native speakers in translating technical texts has long been appreciated by clients such as Dürr Dental. Our translators are selected according to the strictest quality criteria, ensuring that we only use the most highly qualified linguists for your documents, determined by your particular area of healthcare.

From complex to simple

As a pioneer of IT-assisted language management we offer expertise accumulated through exceptional innovation and outstanding process management. You can rely on our proven workflows that save time and money when translating your complex projects.

/ At Transline, using state-of-the-art technology has only one goal: more freedom for you to focus on what's essential. Your research.

As a full-service provider, we're at your side in every situation. And that's a promise.
